FEAR GENERAL KILLING

Thousands of Urumiah Christians
Fear Death Unless Constantinople Countermands Order.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tabriz, April 1.—Proceeding the occupation by the Russians of Salma plains, in Azerbaijan province, north-west of Urumiah, hundreds of Christians were rounded up by the Turks in the village of Hatfedian and assaulted. Many of these were searched from homes of friendly Mohammedans, who tried to hide them.

The Russians on entering the village found 720 bodies mostly naked and mutilated. The recovery of bodies from wells, pools and ditches and their burial kept three hundred men busy for three days.

Expect General Massacre.

A general massacre of the 10,000 or 15,000 Christians remaining in Urumiah is expected unless it should be averted by orders from Constantinople. Verbal message from Urumiah confirms earlier reports that more than 800 persons already have been killed in that neighborhood and more than 2,000 died of disease. These messages also confirm the report of the maltreatment of Rev. Dr. E. T. Allen, American missionary at Urumiah.

At the village of Hatfedian the wailing of women intensified the horror of the scene. Surviving widows were able to identify the bodies of their husbands insisted upon digging graves and burying the bodies. Some of the victims had been shot. In other cases they were bound to ladders and their heads protruding through the cages were hacked off, eyes were bulged out and limbs chopped off.

Turks Suffer Defeat.

Hostilities between Russian and Turkish forces in Persia have been resumed. On March 25 the Russians defeated the Turks at a sanguinary battle at Altkur, in northwestern Persia, the Turks losing 12,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners as well as many guns.

Berlin, April 1.—The centenary of the birth of Prince von Bismarck, Prussia's famous statesman, was celebrated with the utmost enthusiasm today in the German capital. Most of the houses were lavishly draped with the national colors.

The Bismarck memorial in front of the Reichstag, was a mecca for the celebration and numerous high officials of the empire and the federal state participated in the ceremonies there. The Emperor was represented by his grandson, Prince William, the nine-year-old son of Crown Prince Frederick William. Prince Otto, Bismarck's grandson, was a prominent figure at the gathering.

Orates on Chancellor.

Berlin, April 1.—Dr. Von Bethmann-Holweg, the imperial chancellor, who spoke at the Bismarck centennial celebration in the Reichstag today, said: "What Bismarck created no German should allow to be destroyed. Our enemies are raging around the empire but we will beat them. He taught us to fear only God, to wage war against the enemy and to believe in our people. Thus we will fight, and conquer. Give for the emperor and the empire."

REPEAL OF SECOND
CHOICE PROVISION
FAVORED IN SENATEUpper House Votes 25 to 6 to Send Bickler Bill to Engraving—
Action Reversed in Peace Plan.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, April 1.—Sentiment for the repeal of the second choice provision in primary election law, nicknamed the "Mary Ann" law, was 24 to 6 to send the Bickler bill to engraving.

The principle and purpose were admitted to be right but Senator Bickler insisted the law had not succeeded in effecting elimination of candidates and he stated the large number of candidates in the last campaign had resulted from knowledge that this law might have a change. Senator Bickler said the principal opposition arose from election officials.

The Skomo proposal for calling of constitutional convention was recommended for indefinite postponement by the senate committee on judiciary. The assembly reversed recent action in killing the Skomo peace conference plan and reconsidered and concurred on the resolution, which asked the president to call a conference of neutral powers.

The woman suffrage bill and amendments were returned to the assembly for further consideration. Assemblyman Everett stating no hearing had been given the Budlong amendment to deprive women of their lower rights in case suffrage is extended.

Passage was recommended by the state affairs assembly committee of the Janssen bill to authorize the city of De Pere to construct and maintain a bridge across the Fox river in De Pere.

The Hart bill to investigate the subject of pension for judges, police and firemen, was unfavorably recommended.

At the outset of today's assembly session, Carl Hansen of Manitowoc, expressed his opinion of some of the members of the assembly who had come to his desk. Mr. Hansen notified the house he would continue to use a hammer whenever necessary.

DRY WORKERS REMOVE
"DEADS" ON POLL LISTMadison Prohibition Advocates Cut
887 Names Off Poll Lists—
Leave No Chance for Repeating.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 1.—Dead names on poll lists were removed at the instigation of the Madison Dry league this week to the number of 887. They represented electors who had removed from the precinct had died, otherwise they were disqualified from voting next Tuesday. Last year 700 voters were sworn in on election day. This year, following a notable canvass of all wards, 887 were found registered who did not live in the wards. One man was found who was registered in four wards. No actual cases of fraud were discovered. However, in every precinct affidavits were presented by dry workers which demanded under the statutes that the names be removed. A number of the inspectors objected, but in no case did they refuse to comply.

The wets will bring Clarence Darrow, noted labor lawyer, to Madison Saturday night to defend the regulated saloon.

MARCH CUSTOM MONEY
GREATEST SINCE WAR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 1.—Customs receipts of March totaled $19,586,325, the greatest sum collected during any one month since the outbreak of the European war. At that rate treasury officials expect the fiscal year's customs collection will fall only $10,000,000 below their estimate of $220,000,000.

Total treasury receipts for March were $55,398,359, thirteen million more than February. Disbursements were $61,008,725, leaving an approximate deficit of $5,610,366 for the month and ordinary deficit for fiscal year ending July 30 at little more than $83,000,000. Income taxes, however, during the next two months are expected to reduce the deficit materially. The balance of the general fund at the end of March was $35,749,611.

PROMISE OF VILLAAmerican Government Still Awaits
Similar Assurance from Carranza—Another Warship to Vera Cruz.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 1.—The Villa-Zapata forces have agreed to the proposal of the United States for neutralization of passenger trains between Mexico City and Vera Cruz. Word is still awaited from General Carranza, who received representations from the American government on the subject nearly a month ago.

Even with the consent of Carranza, however, official reports indicate that travel will be somewhat hazardous because of numerous guerrilla bands operating between Mexico City and the coast. One band, composed of many former federal soldiers, is under Huerta, has been harassing Carranza's line, requiring an extension of the outpost surrounding Vera Cruz and its entrenchments.

The cruiser Olympia at Key West, Fla., today was ordered to Vera Cruz to join the vessels under Rear Admiral Gaberion's command. It has not yet been determined whether the Olympia will relieve one of the ships now on Mexican service, but that was suggested as a possibility.

Medicine to Vera Cruz. Brounsville, Texas, April 1.—It is believed here that 15 Carranza army officers who reached New Orleans last night en route to Vera Cruz, are part of the force which left Matamoros, Mexico, about two weeks ago. Their departure has not been fully explained, although it was stated at the time they were not needed at Matamoros.

THIS IS CENTENARY OF NAPOLEON'S WAR TO CONQUER EUROPE

On April 1, 1815. Just As Today One Great Nation Was Plotted Against Five Powerful Allies.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—"While the boundaries of Europe today are trembling in the balance of war," says a statement issued today by the National Geographic Society, "it is interesting to contrast the Europe of April 1, 1815 with the Europe of April 1, 1915. Then Europe was at war. It is now at peace. Then one great nation was standing off against a host of Allies just as today the brunt of the present war falls on one great power against a field of allies. The same five great European nations that are at war now were fighting then. Only, the line-up was different.

Then, it was Europe—Great Britain, Prussia, Austria, Russia, against France and Napoleon. Then, as now, the vast armies of the Allies were making ready for a spring campaign of invasion, and much as the cause today is different, the present Belgium were first choice for a war theatre. Moreover, a century of politics and diplomacy have made little change in the questions about which the same were fought in Europe. One important difference was that the Europe of April 1, 1815, had about progressed through a score of troubles to a state of dissatisfaction, peace and exhaustion.

Napoleon made his Waterloo campaign in the spring of 1815, and by July 18 it had been decided in the favor of the Allies. During the great Emperor's banishment to Elba, the Powers that had brought about his abdication and in whose hands the settlement of Europe's troubles rested, the work of reorganizing boundaries, the remainder of the map, before a congress, which was called at Vienna in September, 1814. The efforts of this congress became an endless series of moves for impossible bargains, and its deliberations had almost resulted in war among the belligerents, when Napoleon returned from Elba, and began his campaign in Paris, March 1, 1815. Thus stimulated, the congress hastened with its task, and by June 9, the Final Act, embodying the treaties of Vienna, was signed.

The map of Europe on April 1, 1815, then, was as indeterminate as the thing as it is that map today. France had been crowded back within the borders of Roman Gaul. Her boundaries were the Pyrenees in the south, Piedmont, Savoy, Switzerland and Baden, on the west, and the Netherlands and Prussia on the northeast. It was the France of Louis XV, the France of before the Revolution; and it had lost the Netherlands, a great section of Central Germany, and a strip of coastal Germany, which Napoleon had included in the Empire. By April 1, the Little Corporal was planning to defeat the armies of England, Prussia, Russia and Austria in detail, and to re-establish his Imperial France.

"While the congress in Vienna had not reached final action in its work, the boundaries of the new German confederation had practically been decided. The new confederation included all of German Europe, with the exclusion of the Netherlands and Denmark. Austria was given the presidency of the federal diet. The former Grand Duchy of Warsaw was made a constitutional kingdom under the Russian crown, and the congress confirmed Russia's possession of Finland, which it had acquired from Sweden in 1809. Swedish Pomerania was ceded to Prussia. The modern German Empire, with the exclusion of Austria, and the addition of the province of Schleswig, German Poland and Alsace-Lorraine, was defined by the boundaries placed by the Vienna Congress to the German confederation.

"The tentative re-arrangement of a post-Napoleonic Europe stood through April, while the Emperor of the French was feverishly engaged in raising and equipping armies with which to meet his enveloping enemies. It was only by his remarkable enterprise that he was able to get together an army of 300,000 men. In the meantime, an Austrian army of 210,000 had been assembled upon the Rhine frontier, and a Russian army of 150,000 was moving up to co-operate with the Austrians. Another Austrian force menaced from the southeast, and the Prussian and English armies were concentrated in Belgium. Napoleon began his final strategic moves on June 15.

"Since the overthrow of Napoleon and the work of the Congress of Vienna, the changes in Europe have been those making toward the unification of like peoples, thus the two great changes were the establishment of the German Empire and of the Kingdom of Italy. Italy was formed by the Congress of Vienna as a crazy quilt of small states, largely under the dominance of Austria. France found herself within her historic boundaries, with the exciting unquiet of democratic life, Russia emerged as an equal member of the European concert of powers, and Great Britain began her career as the undisputed mistress of the seas.

Turkey, having kept her hand out of the international tide, yet through with a whole hide, although Russia sought to have the Turkish question brought before the congress. Holland was confirmed in the possession of Belgium and Sweden was compensated for her loss of Finland by having Norway given to her. Denmark lost the continental end of her territory to the Germans."

No parent would consciously be careless of the children. Joe A. Rosmarin, Clarkson, Neb., uses Foley's Honey and Tar for his two children for croup, coughs and colds. He says, "We are never without Foley's Honey and Tar in the house." [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Macon, Ga., April 1.—Anyone who watches the Boston Braves in practice here can easily understand why they are a great machine and why the wise ones are saying that any club that beats out the Braves this year will have to show 50 per cent more ability and fight than any club showed in the National League last year.

To begin with, there is Stallings—a man of fire and action—a leader who inspires and drives, and who will a wonderful fund of energy himself, imparts this energy to his men. And with Stallings directing affairs and driving the club from the bench, out on the field there is John Evers and Walter Marvill, two little men who have more energy than any other two men in the game.

Evers Still "There." Evers is a lieutenant after Stallings' own heart. The Braves are all hustlers, but even if the rest of the team were made up of dummies, Stallings, Evers and Marvill would soon have these dummies fighting hustling, dashing around and playing first class ball. For all three men have the rare ability of being able to inspire action.

None of the Braves wants to loaf, or so it seems. But if they did once would be enough. It is easier and more pleasant to run out a hit or keep eyes open and your head up than it is to have eight or nine masters of satire and invective buzzing into your ears at the same time.

A Great Machine. But in addition to this part of the club the Braves have a first class machine here at work in Macon in other ways. Hank Gowdy has improved wonderfully and looks to be one of the great catchers of baseball. He is not only hitting better than ever and throwing well, but he is far more aggressive than usual, and in this respect is now probably the most aggressive catcher in the league, meaning by aggression the knack of hustling, fighting and hawking out both friend and foe. And with Gowdy there is not only Bert Whaling, but Stallings has a find in young Braggy, who looks to have the making of a star. So the Braves are well fixed behind the bat.

Pitchers Ready. In the box there is the star trio to start with—James, Rudolph and Tyler. All three are well along in their work and are almost sure to be able to start the season in splendid shape. Rudolph has been working back slowly, but will soon be right and ready. James reported a week later, but is in fine condition and is anxious to have an even better year. He is only a youngster, and with all that experience he had last season and the wonderful amount of stuff he has he should be even harder to beat this year than last, where he won more games than any other pitcher in the league.

Infield Good. It is a revelation to see this Brave infield at work. Evers and Marvill are wonders, but they are not the only stars on the club. Over at first, Schmidt seems to have developed extra speed, and there are greater first basemen in baseball and none who is steadier or a better fighter. For Schmidt is also of the aggressive type, and a hustler every second.

Over at third Red Smith is still limping a little, but expects his leg to be ready. He is now favoring his ankle and his foot just a trifle, but this hasn't interfered with his speed to any extent and he is hitting harder than ever. With this club, where his ambition is to be a Red, will almost surely bat over 300, as he is a savage, clouter with a fine swing and a rare eye.

Outfield Improved. The outfield play of the Braves will be better this year than last. For Joe Connolly with that year's experience is a much better man. He seems to be faster, is batting as well as ever and knows more baseball. But the big improvement has come with Sherwood Alages in center. Alages is a 300 hitter year in and year out. He is a clean-up man of the desired type. And he is a swift, sure outfielder. Alages has never been satisfied in Philadelphia, but he is at home here and seems to have been made to be a member of the club.

He has fallen into the general scheme of things, into the hustle and fight and repartee with the joy of a kid discovering a holiday at hand. For the atmosphere of things suits him to the ground and he looks to be in better shape than he has ever been before. And how he is hitting that ball—line drives and smashes that travel beyond reach or drive an infielder to cover.

Outfield Shift. Herb Moran in right sounds out a first class set of outfielders, for he is a better ball player than many give him credit for being. Stallings has not decided whether he will work his outfield shift against left handers and right handers as he did last year, as he says the only way to arrange a program of this sort is to wait until the season opens and actual results begin to develop with the line-up as it is.

So in summing up the chance the Braves have to win again this year can be said for them: They have the best defensive club in baseball with a fine pitching staff and a wonderful set of fielding talent. They have at least four hard hitters and at least two more who are well above the average. They are well protected against accident and injuries. But beyond all this they have the finest and most aggressive spirit in the game and they have made up their minds to take the field and fight every inning out.

NEW APPLETON CLUB GIVEN BOXING RIGHT

Appleton Athletic Club Incorporates For Staging Of Boxing And Wrestling Contests, Other Corporations.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 1.—Another boxing club was organized under the Hedding law when the Appleton Athletic club, with $1,000 capital stock, was chartered in the office of the secretary of state with the purpose of holding boxing and wrestling contests. The incorporators are W. J. Kennia, Carl A. Garlach and P. H. Hiller. A. J. Hedding, author of the boxing law, drew the incorporation papers for the promoters.

Other corporations chartering were Rank & Motteram company, Milwaukee; jewelry; capital, $20,000; incorporators, Henry W. and Mildred Rank, Albert E. and Annie P. Motteram. The Interstate company, a New York corporation capitalized at $1,500,000 and operating railroad news stands and lunch rooms, was licensed in Wisconsin, with Carl A. Hease, Milwaukee, as state representative.

The Schumacher-Seaman Shoe company, Milwaukee, changed its name to Milwaukee Shoe company and increased its capital from $40,000 to $75,000. The Rosenberg Department store, Sturgeon Bay, increased from $40,000 to $75,000 and changed its name to the People's store. Dispositions were filed by the Union Star company, Hancock, Starch & Potato company, and Plainfield Starch & Potato company, all of Waupaca.

WHO'S GOING TO BE THE "APRIL FOOL?"

Will it be Johnson, Willard, or The American Fans Are Going to The Title Clash?

[By Hal Sheridan.]
New York, April 1.—Who's going to be the 'April fool'—Jack Johnson, Jess Willard, or the flake fans who are headed today for Havana? This is the question American sportsmen all over the country are asking today on the eve of the big fight in Cuba Libre. Despite the "dope" that Johnson is not in condition, that Willard is far from being a white hope, that Johnson is in the pink of old time condition and that Willard is a sure winner, a new adjustment of flake laurels is regarded certain to follow the Havana melee next Sabbath.

Incidentally, the fans who vowed they wouldn't be headed in flocks and droves for the sunny south today. All reports will squeeze in between the dark complexioned Cubans in the tiers when the gong sounds. What's going to happen afterward is a question now before followers of the rosin ring. Many believe a new champion will be crowned at Havana. However, even if Johnson should win again he is up against the prospect of having a lot more near-white hopes and would-bees clamoring for a tilt. Johnson can't last forever, even if he wallops Willard, is the way the white-skinned galore contingent figures, and then the white man who finally downs the "dodge" will draw the color line for a permanent white championship at least.

Within another ten days or two weeks the championship baseball season will be on, from the big leagues down to the bushers. Regardless of the lawsuits hanging fire and threatened, many big insiders of O. B. profess to believe that baseball's biggest and most successful year is dawning.

There's a tip that all this legal chatter is to be soft pedaled, at least as far as possible after the ump yells "Play ball." The big leagues of the organized crowd have agreed that the continual prominence of habeas corpus writs of replevin and bylaws of contract has hurt the big game more than anything else in the last two decades. They want to call off the legal "dope" for the diamond variety, and hope to convert the Peds to the same policy.

JACK HAS BEEN GAINING WEIGHT

THE GOOD JUDGE SAVES THE BANKER FROM AN ANGRY MAN.

A "Right-Cut" user knows what he is talking about when he tells a man that a little of the Real Tobacco Chew is more comforting than the old kind.

He gets steady comfort from a small chew—and you bet he knows it.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short-shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength that suits you. Luck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short-shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and horseradish. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

AN IMPRESSIVE LESSON.

Discussing the lesson taught by the present European war an exchange says that "the terrible war in Europe is teaching us an impressive lesson. We have had too much politics in business. We have given the political demagogue too much rope. At last he is hanging himself."

"The terrific strain on business felt in every community was one of the first results of the sudden outbreak of the European conflict. The cotton growers felt it in the south. Its export market was suddenly closed and the New York stock exchange felt it in the north and its doors were closed. Every banker, north, south, east and west, felt it and his apprehensions put a burden on every business man and every industrial interest around him. All shared the general fear."

"In the moment of peril that threatened widespread panic thoughtless people began to think. There was time for thought. Something must be done to avert the worst catastrophe that prosperity had ever suffered. Now, as always, the first appeal was to the leading financiers of the country. Fortunate indeed was it that they were able by reason of the much-condemned Aldrich-Vreeland bill to secure from the government instantly a sufficient amount of emergency currency to tide the situation over."

"While politicians were suggesting all sorts of crude and dangerous laws to safeguard the situation, bankers, joining with the secretary of the treasury at Washington and with the approval of the president, rescued the country from its grave peril. Bankers were welcomed at the white house, business men were consulted by congressmen and no longer stigmatized as lobbyists. Even the obdurate interstate commerce commission showed some gleam of common sense and acceded to a request for a rehearing of the railroad rate case. A demand for a revival of our merchant marine came from every part of the country and the outcry against a ship subsidy faded into a whisper."

"Misfortune always teaches its lesson. In the stress of an unexpected war affecting nearly every great nation but our own, came demand for safer and saner legislation for less politics, and more business, for fair treatment of our industries, our railroads, our bankers and business men, for encouragement to capital, for constructive instead of destructive policies in legislation, for discontinuance of oppressive laws, and for an interrelation of existing statutes in the light of reason and common sense."

"The great struggle across the water may prove a blessing in disguise to the people of the United States. It will, it marks, as we believe it does, the beginning of the end of class legislation, of demagogic assaults on capital, of tirades against business men, the captains of industry, and of unreasonable attack on the great exchanges which make the market for securities and commodities. These are the weapons which demagogues have used so skillfully to advance their own interests at the sacrifice of the national welfare."

"We predict that the day is not distant when political leaders will make it their boast that their purpose is to stand by the business men of this country and aid in the re-establishment of his business everywhere; to honor our captains of industry; to strengthen the railroads and extend their lines; to protect American capital and labor alike and to set their faces sternly and forever against the demagogue, the demagogue, and all the destroyers of American prosperity."

LISTEN YOUNG MAN.

Here is a message to the young men of the country. Leslie's Weekly says:

"The achievements of youth startle the world. Experience is often the worst teacher. Her rebuffs dampen ardor and deaden ambition. Youth is not fettered by a knowledge of limitations, so it rushes in where angels fear to tread and performs miracles. Not knowing the impossible, youth has faith in achieving it."

"Raphael painted the Madonna of St. Anthony at 22 years of age, theistine Madonna at 27. Shelley wrote his sublime drama 'Prometheus Unbound' at 27. Alexander Hamilton wrote two of the most influential political pamphlets of his time at 17; and at 20 he joined Washington's private staff. John Calvin published his 'Institutes of Theology' at 27. Burns wrote three of his greatest poems at the same age. William Pitt was chancellor of the exchequer at 23; at 25 he was one of the foremost men of his time. Clive was head of the English forces in India; distinguished himself at Arcot; and was called a 'have-born' general by Pitt at 27."

"Mozart composed an opera for the opera house at Milan when 15 years old; at 21 he had written 300 compositions; at 30 he was the greatest composer of Europe. Keats won an immortal place among English poets and died at 26. Edison at 22 received $40,000 for a telegraphic invention. Isaac Newton ignored all the authority and tradition of time, and discovered the law of gravitation at 27. Bell didn't know he couldn't talk from Denver to Boston, so he invented the telephone at 29.

"Napoleon rebuked an officer for saying 'Impossible' in his presence. Napoleon said: 'There are no Alps' and led the French army into Italy at 27. Had Joan of Arc been older and experienced she would not have attempted to lead the French into Orleans and drive the English beyond the Loire. At 17 she stood victoriously beside Charles when he was crowned king in the cathedral."

So close is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When duty whispers low "Thou must"
The Youth replies, "I can."

"The world owes much to the abounding belief of youth. Youth will undertake and accomplish big tasks. Youth has blazed its trails into undiscovered realms and brought back a new law, a new song, or a new machine."

"An army of men can run a cotton gin but it took Eli Whitney, a youth of 27, with abounding faith, to invent it. There are a thousand men who can send a wireless message, but it took Marconi, a youth of 24, with unfathomed faith, to discover the law. There are a most of men to play the march, but it took Mozart, a youth of 20, with unquenched enthusiasm, to compose it."

"In the executives' chair and around the directors' table of successful business enterprise are many men scarcely turned 30. They are not demagogues; they have not sat idle in the market places bemoaning the inequality of fortune."

"Sad is the old age of the youth who forgets his father's struggles, his father's thrift, his father's God; and lets the morrow take care of itself."

"The world owes no man a living, but every youth owes the world a life."

THE HOLY LAND.

Is the present struggle between the Turks and the Allies for the supremacy of the Dardanelles, to be followed possibly by the conquest of the Holy Land, to be a repetition of the crusades of the early centuries or the fulfillment of the prophecy of the Book of Revelations? Already armed conflicts have taken place near Armageddon, a small town on the highway connecting Asia and Africa, and designated where the last great battle of nations is to take place.

Even Mesopotamia, the traditional site of the Garden of Eden, and a large area of the Holy Land itself, have been occupied by the English expeditionary forces. It may prove the rescue of the cradle of Christianity from Mohammedan rule under which it has been oppressed for the past three centuries. The plains of Ur of the Chaldees, where Abraham fed his flocks, the site which marks the tower of Babel and the fields where Nebuchadnezzar ate grass, all echo with the tramp of the armed feet of the enemies of the Turk.

Mesopotamia has been the battle ground of nations since the world began. Under the rule of the Assyrians, Babylonians, Medes, Persians and Romans and finally under the rule of the Turks, history has been made and unmade. The goal of the Crusaders, and coveted land of the nations seeking egress to the eastward, into India, the scene of the famous wars of Alexander the Great, this country is known in history and literature far better than many parts of Europe. Today it again resounds with the sound of wars and the question arises, is history to repeat itself?

CORN SYRUP DECISION.

The opinion of Judge Sanborn of the federal court in the famous corn syrup case has attracted particular attention throughout the country. The Evening Wisconsin hit the nail on the head when it said:

"Judge Sanborn's decision in the Karo corn syrup case is what might have been expected. The Wisconsin legislators of a few years ago had become so addicted to the regulating habit that they wanted a finger in every pie and were not satisfied without attempting to regulate all creation, regardless of the confusion which their meddlesome activity might occasion, or the injury which it might inflict upon individuals or corporations engaged in legitimate business. Judge Sanborn's decision points out limitations to their power and cuts the claws of an obviously pernicious statute."

Eyes of Fishes.

The eyes of fishes are in constant use except when they are asleep. Most fishes have no eyelids, their eyes being protected from injury by a shiny material or by a thick transparent skin. The puffer, or swellfish, which habitually burrows in sand at the bottom of the water, has eyelids which cover the eyeballs when closed, the lower eyelid being larger than the upper.

WATER CASE AGAIN TAKEN INTO COURT

JANESVILLE WATER CO. APPEALS
ON MATTER OF COMMISSION'S VALUATION.

CITY IS NOT A PARTY

Present Action Instituted in Dane County Circuit Court Does Not Affect Municipal Ownership.

After a period of five years' litigation in four courts, both state and federal, over two years involved in valuation proceedings before the state railroad commission, the object of two special elections and the main issue in the recall election in 1913, the city obtained possession of the waterworks and today, after the same time that notices were received from the Dane county circuit court that an appeal had been taken by the water company on the decision of the railroad commission.

This afternoon City Treasurer Geo. W. Muench presented a check for eighty thousand dollars to the officials of the water company, and the transfer was effected. Mayor Jas. A. Evers this morning signed the eighty thousand dollar water works bonds at the office of Emery, Peck and Rockwood, and the money was credited to Janesville by telegraph this afternoon. The work of taking the stock inventory, with the aid of the railroad commission's engineer, will take several days more, and the findings will be submitted to the commission for valuation, which will be separate from the decision order of $265,000.

The complaint of the appeal filed in the circuit court for Dane county between the Janesville Water company and the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin was received by City Attorney W. H. Dougherty late yesterday afternoon. The appeal in no way affects the city's possession of the plant, but is the water company's suit against the railroad commission in the grounds that they are dissatisfied with the order for the transfer of the plant, alleging that the decision was unlawful and unduly oppressive for various reasons. The company in this step attacks the price set by the state for the plant and not their judgment.

Reasons for Appeal.
The following reasons are set forth in the complaint for the appeal:
(1) Because the defendant—the railroad commission—in the manner of determining the just compensation to be paid to the water company for the plant and property, proceeded upon a wholly erroneous basis of theory, that the value of the plant and property should be determined upon an estimated present value of the water company's property to be taken over and not upon the actual investment in and cost of construction of said property.

(2) Because the railroad commission, in determining the amounts of the various elements entering into the value of the water company's property, grossly undervalued and underestimated the amounts to be allowed for such various elements, being, among others, original cost of the company's property, cost of reproduction of such property, less depreciation, intangible values and actual investment of the company.

(3) Because the defendant determined by the railroad commission as just compensation to be paid by the city to the company was not determined alone from the testimony introduced by the parties, but was determined by the railroad commission, from "other available sources" also, and is contrary to the evidence offered and introduced before the state commission demonstrating undisputedly that the amount awarded is wholly inadequate, unreasonable and unwarranted.

(4) Because the railroad commission of Wisconsin, in determining the value of the water company's property, excluded and ignored elements of value to be included and considered and which should have been considered. It is the contention of the plaintiff that the testimony favorable to the Water company was excluded.

Seek Correction.
The appeal will take the Janesville water case before the Dane county circuit court and the valuation proceedings of the railroad commission will be a subject of litigation with the railroad commission as the defendant. The city is not making a party to the suit directly and the case will be in the hands of the attorney general, who will defend the commission in this matter.

Special Meeting.
An adjourned meeting of the city council will be held tomorrow when Mayor Patters returns from Chicago for the first action by the city of Janesville on the water company and the city. An adjustment of the water bills for hydrant fountains will be made at this time.

HAVE NO OPPOSITION TO REGULATING COLD STORAGE PLANTS

Madison, Wis., April 1.—There was little opposition yesterday at the hearing before the assembly committee on state affairs on the Gruenewald bill to give the state dairy and food commission power to regulate the cold storage plants in this state and to prevent provisions being stored too long. Assemblyman Gruenewald said that the bill had the endorsement of the committee on uniform legislation. W. J. Webster of Hudson said that similar bills were presented this year in the states of Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and a number of other states in the north. He said the measure was favored by State Dairy and Food Commissioner Weigle. No one appeared in opposition to the measure.

Thousands of bushels of first-class fertilizer are wasted every fall when the burning of the leaves begins. These same leaves spread over the gardens and spaded under in the spring would prove of great good, but the smoke given off in burning them produces nothing but choking coughs.

FATHER WARD FACES LIFE OF ETERNITY

Well Known Beloit Priest and Prohibition Worker Succumbs—Was Nationally Known.

Father M. J. Ward, one of the best known priests of the middle west, and a character of national prominence, died at his home in Beloit, Wis., at 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon following a mastoid operation of the ear. Funeral services will be held on Friday at 10 o'clock at the Catholic church at Beloit. The place of interment is undecided.

Father Ward was well known in this city. On numerous occasions his services as a lecturer have been in demand here. He was a member of the high school he delivered a powerful temperance lecture and at the time of his death was president of the Catholic National Temperance society and vice-president of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league. As an exponent of prohibition and total abstinence he was in demand in many states.

He was sixty-eight years of age and in his youth was a giant of six feet and seven inches, and wearing a full beard was a very conspicuous personage. No death in Beloit in a decade has attracted so many citizens.

Father Ward did much towards the upbuilding of the Line City and was an earnest worker in temporal and civic affairs as well as to his calling in the spiritual.

SENDS RESIGNATION TO THE DIRECTORS

R. C. Mackenzie Associate Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. to Leave Local Association.

As a culmination of affairs at the Y. M. C. A., R. C. Mackenzie, the associate secretary, has sent a letter of resignation to the directors of the local association to take effect April 27th. It appears that the contract with Mr. Mackenzie, which was recently made at a recent meeting of the board of directors a new contract was drawn up and sent to him to sign. It is in reference to this new contract Mr. Mackenzie writes the directors his resignation. A copy of the letter sent is as follows:

Janesville, Wis., March 31, 1915.
To the Members of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. of Janesville, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:
In action of the committee appointed by you to draw up a contract with me, which is stated in the letter of Dr. Loomis of March 27th, seems to me to be both unjust and unfair. I have been asked to resign my position as associate secretary, to take effect April 27th, 1915. Respectfully submitted,

R. C. Mackenzie.

Mr. Mackenzie's resignation, a culmination of the troubles that appear to have beset the local association and his decision to leave the local association, will be learned with regret by the many friends he made in this city, particularly among the young men who are members.

In view of the veiled insinuation that Mr. Mackenzie is behind the whole affair and that it is of interest to the public to learn the real reason for Mr. Mackenzie's action, the board has asked him for a statement of the existing facts and conditions that led him to make his decision. If he consents to do so it may throw some definite light upon matters that have been very interesting to many citizens at present.

FEDERAL GAME LAWS STRICTLY OBSERVED

Have Few Complaints on Violation of Spring Shooting Laws in Rock County.

Geese and Canadian brant have been inhabiting the fields and smaller streams of Rock county in plentiful numbers for the past week, the flocks being on their northward journey to their summer breeding grounds. Ducks have come northward in limited number, a few mallard and teal being seen on the rivers and ponds, but the flight has not been in general owing to the cold-weather experienced during March.

Very few of the wild fowl are stopping at Lake Koshkonong, the game preserving the open fields for feeding grounds and the smaller waters. Mud hens or American coot swarm the lake in their usual number but sportsmen are denied water fowl hunting by the federal game laws. Very few complaints have been received and the sportsmen in general have showed no inclination to violate the laws.

George Stutts, a game warden, received reports that the pheasants, obtained by the Rock County Rod and Gun club have been protected on the farms north of the city, where they were released last summer. The birds are scattered over the woodlands in this district and the venture so far has been very successful.

But club is planning to hold a meeting in the near future and a report is to be made of the work accomplished during the past year in game protection and propagation.

SECURING EVIDENCE AGAINST PASSENGER

French Secret Service Men Gather Proof to Show Pro-German Sympathies of Swoboda.

Paris, April 1.—Additional evidence has been found, the police assert, to prove the pro-German sympathies of Raymond Swoboda, charged with being responsible for the fire which threatened the destruction of the steamer La Touraine. Secret service operatives learned yesterday that Swoboda left large trunks in an office in the Avenue de l'Opera, the use of which he had obtained through an introduction by the broker, Morrison. The trunks were seized and sent to the police station, where they were searched and a number of papers seized. These documents included, the police assert, letters of a highly compromising character together with photographs showing Swoboda in a German uniform with two other officers.

Mr. Haguet, Swoboda's business associate, declared in an interview last night that he believed Swoboda was a Canadian as he had excellent references from Quebec, where he said his father, a resident of Swoboda, told Haguet he had been brought up in Germany and made no attempt to hide his sympathy for that nation, according to the latest news.

U. S. Investigation.
Agents of bureau of investigation of department of justice began an inquiry today in the issue of an American passport issued to Raymond Swoboda, under arrest in Paris, charging with starting the fire on the La Touraine, a French liner.

The investigation is to determine whether the issue of the passport was entirely regular. The passport does not give Swoboda's occupation, merely saying he was to be abroad "one year on business."

RESULT OF "WORLD'S WAR" DEPENDS ON IMPEDIMENTS DECLARES CORRESPONDENT

London, April 1.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The Times military correspondent admits that England, France and Russia are still short of much necessary material, and that Germany's preparedness in this respect has been one of the heaviest handicaps that the Allies have had to contend with.

"The result of this war depends more upon material than any other great conflict in history," adds the correspondent. "The Entente powers were all short of material when the war began, but they are making up for it by the time they are making up for it."

"For only a short time more, they have to stand on the defensive, holding their armies on the defensive and shunting armaments for which this is not the moment. The hour for the offensive will come, but it has not come yet and it is the greatest mistake in the world to display impatience and to expect to cull the fruits of victory before victory is ripe."

Interest for three months at the rate of 3% will be paid July 1st on all deposits made at this bank during the first ten days of this month.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor:

Some thoughts occur to me relative to the Y. M. C. A. situation I wish some officer of the association would answer for the general benefit of the public.

Have the books of the association been audited recently?
What are the officers and who comprise the board of directors?
When are they elected and for what terms?

When was the last annual meeting held as prescribed in the articles of incorporation?

Have the terms of any of the present acting directors expired? If so, why are they still acting as members of the board?

Is the building free from debt? I understand there is a mortgage on it; if so, why?

Is it not true that when the contributions for the reconstruction of the building were requested they were made with the stipulation that the association was free from debt? Has this been complied with?

If no annual meeting has been held recently why would it not be a good thing to hold one and thoroughly discuss the whole situation?

Trust some officer of the association will answer these questions.

FEDERAL RECEIPTS $2,000 ABOVE FIRST QUARTER, 1914
An increase of $2,000 in postoffice receipts over the first quarter of 1914 is the record established at the local federal building, according to the quarterly report just completed for the department at Washington. Substantial increases are shown in the postage paid department, the clearance of packages and the money order department have also shown material gains.

SIDE TALKS

BY RUTH CAMERON

AN EGOTISTICAL TALE.

I'm going to be very egotistical and tell you a story about myself today. The reason I do it is because I think it may also be a story about your self and as it has a happy ending which I've reached and you may not have, it may make you read your story with more optimistic eye.

Four months ago today I went to the place which was to be my home for the winter.

Homelickness, The Seasickness of the Heart.

I don't think I was ever more unhappy in my life. In the first place I was homesick and anyone who has ever had that seasickness of the heart knows how it makes your blood feel like dishwater and your heart like something rather heavier than lead.

In the second place my new home presented several unexpected problems which the homelickness helped make me feel physically and mentally unable to face.

I was on the verge of tears about half the time and over the verge about a quarter.

I didn't see why I ever came and I never would have stayed if I hadn't had to. Five months looked like an eternity to me. I used to turn over the leaves on the calendar and look longingly at the month marked April and wonder if it would ever come, and positively ache with longing to have the power to tear the intervening months off the calendar and out of my life. I would certainly have given a year of my life for that power.

Just Between You and Me.

That was four months ago. Today I am getting ready to leave my winter home. Am I as wildly happy as I thought I would be when I looked ahead on the calendar? No, reader friend, I'll confess to you something I wouldn't tell to all my personal friends. I'm actually rather sorry.

It all came about very gradually, the disappearance of the homelickness, the adjustment of the problems, the forgetting of the calendar, and the growth of happiness. I scarcely realized it had happened until I found myself looking forward to what I once longed for and looking forward to it without zest.

Four months ago if anyone had told me I would feel this way I would have laughed at him. Yet it would have been true. Perhaps you, reader friend, would laugh at anyone who told you you would gradually come to find happiness in the conditions that now depress you. Your case is different, you say? Ah, my friend, I once thought mine was.

Questions and Answers.

Question: There are people I know who do not pay grocers' bills, dressmakers' bills, etc., yet will give to church, to Belgians, to all sorts of charities, and yet evade the law, so as not to pay their honest debts. Do you consider it right to give what before playing charity wouldn't it be better?

Answer: Better? I should say so. Of course, no one who evades a grocer bill and gives to charity is really giving. He is making his grocer give.

yolks of two eggs slightly beaten, one cup milk, one tablespoon melted butter and pinch of salt. When thoroughly blended add whites of eggs beaten to a dry froth and bake in one crust.

Few people seem to have eaten grapefruit pie, and yet it is delicious. Mix one cup sugar, two round tablespoons cornstarch, one teaspoon butter, yolks of two eggs, juice of half a grapefruit, juice of half a lemon and half an orange and one cup hot water. Cook in double boiler until cornstarch is fully cooked, stirring well. Put into baked shell, cover with meringue made of whites of the eggs and bake in slow oven.

HANDY WORKSTAND

Remove the canvas from a camp stool, and enamel or stain the frame. Then make a large bag of cretonne, measuring thirty inches by twenty-four inches, and line it with at least four inches of the material.

The shorter sides of the material are then seamed two inches from the edges.

The other sides are turned over to a hem of the same width, leaving two inches at each end unstitched.

Through each of the two hems last made, thread a piece of tape which, when it is brought out of the hem, should be fastened around the side pieces of the frame.

The short sides of the bag which were hemmed two inches from the top should then be attached. Put the material on the outside of the top bar of the frame, and the lining on the inner side. Then turn them both in and make a neat hem at the top of the bar. The ends where the other hem touches need to be cut down and turned in, to enable them to pass around the top rails.

A few small brass-headed nails should be tacked along the sides to keep the bag in position. Two handles made of cretonne and sewn one each at middle of the longer sides of bag will be useful for carrying it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I would like to have you give me some games to play at an Easter party.

(2) A book, stationery, a pretty handkerchief or necktie.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me of a permanent cure for blackheads that will not injure the skin or one's health in any way? Although I have had them removed several times they seem to grow out again, making it impossible to keep the skin free. What is the cause of them? HOPEFUL.

There is no permanent cure for blackheads. One must care for the skin constantly to keep it free from them.

To cure blackheads make an ointment of one ounce of soap liniment and one ounce of ether; mix. At night scrub the face thoroughly with hot water, using a complexion or other soft brush. After wiping apply the mixture to each spot and let it remain on over night. Wash off in the morning with hot water. Continue until the spots have disappeared. Then twice a week wash the face with this mixture, removing the liquid at once by rinsing with clear water. If there are large spots, wipe over each with a little alcohol.

Blackheads may be the result of so many different causes that what will cure them for one person will be useless for another. So all one can say is that if faithful trials of external remedies do not benefit, a physician should be consulted.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can jewelry be cleaned? RUBY.

Jewelry should be washed in hot water in which has been dissolved a moderate amount of ammonia, using a moderately soft brush. Then lay in a box of sawdust to dry, and the result will be satisfactory. Stones in their settings may be cleaned by using the toothbrush and moistened end of a wooden toothpick in the interstices. Alcohol is also effective in dissolving dirt.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of twenty-four years and I am too slim to look well. What can I do to gain flesh? ANXIOUS.

Keep regular hours; get plenty of sleep about nine hours a night; eat heartily; drink about three pints of milk a day, and don't worry.

On Monday Neil went to the station to see Mrs. Parsons and the children off for the Easter leaving. Dick's mother alone in the house. When she came up the stairs she noticed the clothes line stretched in the yard.

Had a Mary changed her day for washing? She hurried into the house. Her guest was up to her elbows in suds, vigorously rubbing a garment on the board.

"Now, mother, let me hang those things out, and you go and rest a while before dinner," said Neil when she finished preparing the vegetables.

"You had better look around; I may not be home today."

When Dick returned, his mother was hanging shirts in the hot kitchen. "My mother makes me think of my boyhood days," he paused in front of the board and gazed into her flushed face. She smiled grimly and said: "It's a long time since I ironed shirts for you, the farm, couldn't hold you long," she sighed and your father encouraged your going."

When Neil protested to Dick he laughed. "Can you let my mother enjoy herself? She's happy today for the first time since she came. Poor mother," he added sorrowfully, "she has only one way of expressing her love, ironing those shirts for her joy. How terrible not to be able to express love!" and he caught Neil in his arms.

There was a note of finality in the voice. "I'll show you that money and you can save that money for the people who never would have believed you go about whatever you planned to do. I'll have this little dab of clothes out of the house this day. It's a good drying day; they will be the curtains up by the time Dick comes to the door."

Neil went into the bedroom and took off her hat. She laughed and she straightened the room, realizing how helpless she was before the vigorous force of her indomitable mother-in-law.

Poor Father Morton! She could see how he had been swept along on the tide of her strong personality.

CONTINUE OPERATION OF FOOTVILLE PLANT

RECEIVER FOR VALENCIA CONDENSED MILK MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT TO FARMERS WEDNESDAY.

MANY PATRONS BACK

Milk Received During April Will be Paid for at Rate of $1.40 Per Hundred.—Revival of Business Foreseen.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Footville, April 1.—The Footville Condensed Milk factory will continue in operation. This fact was announced at a meeting between three and four hundred farmers and patrons of the concern at this place on Wednesday, which was also attended by W. A. Warner of Madison, newly appointed receiver for the Valencia Condensed Milk company. A statement was authorized as follows:
"The Footville Condensed Milk factory will run. There seems to have been some misunderstanding on the part of the farmers in the vicinity of Janesville and on the part of the Janesville Commercial club relative to the situation at Footville. This is to inform all persons interested in the Footville factory as well as all patrons that the plant will continue in operation under the direction of W. A. Warner of Madison as receiver. The day for milk received on March 29 is assured to all patrons as long as the factory is in operation under the receiver by instructions from the federal court at Madison. Patrons will receive checks for milk delivered between March 29 and April 1 on April 10, and checks for April milk will be paid on May 15. The price will be $1.40 per hundred pounds for milk testing .36, during the month of April."
Stockholders in the Footville concern went to Madison today to attend the meeting of all stockholders of the Valencia company at which further details of the management of the business under the receiver will be announced. The receiver's statement here will be curtailed as much as possible. Nineteen men were laid off on Wednesday, but it is possible that they will be taken on again as soon as business revives sufficiently to warrant their employment.
Farmers in this vicinity are anxious to have the factory resume operations on a paying basis and many of the patrons who stopped sending milk since the suspension of payments, are now ready and willing to return since they are assured payment under the direction of the federal court. Practically all of the old patrons will return, it is believed. The matter of back payment for milk will take time to settle and will come after due process of law involved in the receivership.
Twenty-five thousand pounds of milk were received at the factory yesterday, indicating that the plant is still going to considerable business despite the financial difficulties into which it has of late been thrown.

BROADSIDE ATTACK IS MADE AGAINST AGENCIES OF VICE

Speakers Before Legislative Committee Urge That Seven Bills Dealing on Vice Problem Be Passed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 1.—Legislation was urged for better protection of citizens against vice temptations and dangers, especially in reference to hotel, saloon, cafe and employment agency conditions, in hearings on seven bills framed by the anti-vice committee yesterday afternoon. Attention was given also to the problem of treating victims of immorality in a state hospital. The speakers were those who appeared on behalf of similar bills Tuesday. One bill proposes that women victims of prostitution be sent to the industrial home for women now building at Taycheedah, where they would be given scientific care and training before returning to the world as women, not physical freaks. Ex-Senator Teasdale said the common jail is no place to send those diseased, often used to incite further immorality by girls committed there. Hospital treatment for women victims of vice he believed was as necessary as such treatment for drug addicts and inebriates.

Found Successful.
Walter Clark, American Social Hygiene association, said such institutions in Massachusetts and New York are doing a great work. They show that about half of such women passing through the courts are feeble minded and that 35 per cent are neurasthenics. State bills are pending in the legislatures of Michigan, Missouri, and Kansas. They seek to solve the problem of what to do with the immoral woman after the segregated district is closed against her. Mrs. G. A. Hipke, Milwaukee maternity hospital, also defended the plan.

The bill licensing, inspecting and regulating rooming and lodging houses, and governing the conduct of saloons, etc., of roomers and lodgers, and the renting of rooms was supported by Senator Teasdale. Mrs. Hipke and Mrs. Katherine L. Van Wyck, Milwaukee, also spoke in support of the bill. The bill would allow the police to examine registers to ascertain whether disorderly conditions prevail.

Give True Names.
Another bill forbids giving fictitious names when arrests for violations of moral laws are made. In accordance with a suggestion by W. H. Austin, Milwaukee attorney, it was amended to apply to violations of any laws. Mrs. L. A. Kahlenberg, Madison, said the Madison municipal court allows male offenders to give fictitious names but demands women give their true names.

The bill licensing hotels, requiring true names to be registered, and prohibiting use of closed dining rooms in hotels unless the patrons are segregated as to sex, except for family parties, was admitted by Senator Teasdale to be somewhat drastic, but evils found by the committee warranted the restriction. Hotel managers asserted they would keep their quarters removed from access to guest rooms and under proper supervision, he said. Miss Rose M. Perdue, Milwaukee, said hotel girls are constantly beset with temptations which this bill seeks to avoid.

On Labor Agencies.
Private employment agencies which send unscrupulous persons to jobs where temptation lurks were scored by Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, suffrage leader. Mrs. G. W. Price, Madison, and Senator Teasdale. Mrs. Price cited a case where a Madison agency sent a girl to a leading Madison hotel, where, she overtures were made that the girl left much frightened and returned to the agency and asked why she was sent to such a place, and received only a knowing smile for answer. The vice committee's bill requires private agencies to make affirmations of good character of employers and places of employment to which help is sent, and forbids them from sending female help to immoral places of any kind.

Phobias Specimens.
Another bill is directed at side doors and family entrances to saloons. Mrs. Van Wyck denounced them as one of the greatest causes of a girl's downfall in the cities. The bill prohibits screens or blinds. It requires the licensee to give the location by number of floor, lot and block of the premises when application for license is made. W. H. Austin said the bill in its original form would prohibit the best hotels from serving drinks into family or private groups in a hotel room. If it were possible to separate the good from the bad places, he would favor the bill as drafted, but the solution was not in this bill, he said.

Attacks Saloons.
The last bill considered hits at cafes, saloons, restaurants, etc., permitting immorality. Partitioned or curtained off parlors for drinking or dining purposes were said by Senator Teasdale to be conducive to solicitation, and he cited examples found by the investigation. Mr. Austin said the only objection was in the fact that Mrs. two dining rooms are maintained the occupants of one cannot be seen by those in the other, and that the bill makes this fact prima facie cause for arrest. Senator Teasdale will amend it.

Howard Estabrook, while having his initial experience as a moving picture actor in the lead of Travers Gladwin in George Kleine's film version of the famous Cohan & Harris success, "Ole Doc", is now appearing in his conversion to the new art of most Broadway stars who have taken up pictures seriously. "Before 666," I don't believe I had been inside more than two or three picture theatres in my entire life, and that was long ago that the quality of what I saw was not a not a second-rate movie theatre I pass, if only for a few moments, spending quantities of time watching the new movie on the screen. Aladdin-like, a wonderful industry seems to have grown overnight. I recalled it as a few scattered five-cent halls; I find it with real theatres, offices, publications, weeklies, supply houses, etc., all seeming to spring from nothing, but founded on the sure rock, the greatest entertainment of the greatest number for the smallest admission, and it can only go on and on; if producers will beware of what one cannot fail at times to detect, the significance of quality for quantity. Count me a movie enthusiast.

"Ole Doc" visits the Myers theatre for a limited engagement Wednesday, April 7, matinee and evening.

Of all the nerve racking experiences that fall to the lot of the tregger, none is more so than force when it fails to deliver and historic ships have gone to pieces on jagged and uneven sea than upon any other obstacle which lurks in the pathway of comedy ambition. STATE DENTAL LAWS SHOULD BE AMENDED

Dr. Bowman States Laws Should Give Dentists Who Advertise Opportunity to Practice.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 1.—That the state dental law should be amended as to give dentists who advertise an opportunity to practice was the gist of an argument made by Dr. J. J. Bowman of Milwaukee before the assembly committee on state affairs yesterday. Dr. Bowman charged that the state board of dental examiners illegally required applicants for dentistry to state whether they would advertise or not and he said that the board "willfully discriminated against those who advertise regardless of their educational and professional qualifications." He declared that there was a bill pending before the senate that under the rules of the Wisconsin Dental Society would give this board the power to revoke the license of any dentist who advertised.

The Hambrecht bill, upon which he made his argument, provides that a man who has had five years of practical experience prior to 1907 shall be admitted to practice without examination. To this bill Dr. Bowman suggested the amendment that would compel the board to recognize the graduates of reputable colleges in other states and would also make it impossible to revoke the license of a dentist merely because he advertised.

The Tire That Was Never Skimped

You know the reason for Goodyear success. It's the basic reason for every lasting success. We simply gave the best.

We gave it when we held a minor place. We built a superior tire, excellent every rival in five important ways.

We gave it in days of small output—when these costly extra features compelled a price one-fifth above our rivals.

Men Found Out

Users proved that these tires saved trouble, gave greater mileage, cut down cost of upkeep. They told others, and Goodyear sales grew fast. Soon Goodyears reached top place in Tire-dom, and they've held it ever since.

Last year we sold about one tire for every car in use. We sold 14 times as many as we sold in 1909.

Prices Down

With multiplied output cost came down. Again and again we cut prices. Our last big reduction—made February 1st—was the third in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

Yet Goodyear Fortified Tires are built better than ever. We spend $100,000 yearly learning ways to improve them. And they still retain those five great features, found in no other tire that's built.

Don't you think it time now that you found out what such tires mean to you? Any dealer will supply you.

Mrs. Desmond started up, an incredulous look in her eyes.

"You are taking his side? You are against your husband? Oh, now I know the kind of woman you are. I know—"

"Peace! You do not know the kind of woman I am. You never will know. Yes, I shall take sides with Frederic."

"You do not love your husband!"

A strange, unfathomable smile came into Yvonne's face and stayed there. Mrs. Desmond experienced the same odd feeling she had had years ago on first seeing the Sphinx. She was suddenly confronted by an unsolvable mystery.

"He shall not drive me out of his house, Mrs. Desmond," was her answer to the challenge.

A door slammed in the upper regions of the house. Both women started to their feet.

"It is over," breathed Yvonne, with a tremulous sigh.

"We shall see how well they were able to take care of themselves, Mrs. Brood," said Mrs. Desmond in a low voice.

"We shall see—yes," said the other, mechanically. Suddenly she turned on the tall, accusing figure beside her.

"Go away! Go now! I command you to go. This is our affair, Mrs. Desmond. You are not needed here. You were too late, as you say. I beg of you, go!"

She strode swiftly toward the door. As she was about to place her hand on the knob it was opened from the other side, and Randal stood before them.

"Sahib begs to be excused, Mrs. Desmond. He is just going out."

"Going out?" cried Yvonne, who had shrunk back into the room.

"Yes, sahibah. You will please excuse, Mrs. Desmond. He regret very much."

Mrs. Desmond passed slowly through the door, which he held open for her. As she passed by the Hindu she looked full into his dark, expressive eyes, and there was a question in hers. He did not speak, but she read the answer as it were on a printed page. Her shoulders drooped.

She went back to Lydia.

CHAPTER XVI.

"To My Own Sweetheart."

When James Brood and Frederic left the dining-room nearly an hour prior to the departure of Mrs. Desmond, there was in the mind of each the resolution to make short work of the coming interview. Each knew that the time had arrived for the parting of the ways, and neither had the least desire to prolong the suspense.

The study door was closed. James Brood put his hand on the knob, but, before turning it, faced the young man with an odd mixture of anger and pity in his eyes.

"Perhaps it would be better if we had nothing more to say to each other," he said, with an effort. "I have changed my mind. I cannot say the thing to you that I—"

"Has it got anything to do with Yvonne and me?" demanded Frederic ruthlessly, jumping at conclusions in his new-found arrogance.

Brood threw open the door. "Step inside," he said in a voice that should have warned the younger man, it was so prophetic of disaster. Frederic had touched the open door with that unhappy question. Not until this instant had James Brood admitted to himself that there was a sore and that it had been festering all these weeks. Now it was laid bare and smarted with pain. Nothing could save Frederic after that reckless, deliberate thrust at the very core of the malignant growth that lay so near the surface.

It had been in James Brood's heart, to spare the boy.

Hot words were on Frederic's lips. They were alone in his room. He squared his shoulders.

"I suppose you think I am in love with her," he said defiantly. He waited a moment for the response that did not come. Brood was regarding him with eyes from which every spark of compassion had disappeared. "Well, it may interest you to know that I intend to marry Lydia this very day."

Brood advanced a few steps toward him. In the subdued light of the room his features were not clearly distinguishable. His face was gray and shadowy; only the eyes were sharply defined. They glowed like points of light, unflickering.

"I shall be sorry for Lydia," he said levelly.

"You needn't be," said Frederic hotly. "She understands everything."

"Have you told her that you love her and no one else?"

"Certainly!"

"Then you have lied to her."

There was silence—tense silence. "Do you expect me to strike you for that?" came at last from Frederic's lips, low and menacing.

"You have always considered yourself to be my son, haven't you?" pursued Brood deliberately. "Can you say to me that you have behaved of late as a son should?"

"Wait! We'll settle that point right now. I did lose my head. Head, I say, not heart. I shall attempt to explain—I can't for that matter. As for Yvonne—well, she's as good as gold. She understands me better than I understand myself. She knows that even honest men lose their heads sometimes. I can say to you now that I would sooner have cut my own throat than to do more than envy you the possession of one you do not deserve. I have considered myself your son. I have no apology to make for my—we'll call it infatuation. I shall only admit that it has existed and that I have despaired. As God is my witness, I have never loved any one but Lydia. I have given her pain, and the amazing part of it is that I can't help myself. Naturally, you can't understand what it all means. You are not a young man any longer. You cannot understand."

"Good God!" burst from Brood's lips. Then he laughed aloud—grotesquely.

"Yvonne is the most wonderful thing that has ever come into my life. I adored her the instant I saw her. I have felt sometimes that I knew her a thousand years ago. I have felt that I loved her a thousand years ago. A calm seriousness now attended his speech, in direct contrast to the violent mood that had gone before. "I have thought of little else but her. I confess it to you. But through it all there has never been an instant in which I did not worship Lydia Desmond. I—I do not pretend to account for it. It is beyond me."

Brood waited patiently to the end. "Your mother before you had a somewhat similar affliction," he said, still in the steady, repressed voice. "Perhaps it is a gift—a convenient gift—this ability to worship without effort."

"Better leave my mother out of it," said Frederic sarcastically. A look of wonder leaped to his eyes. "That's the first time you've condescended to acknowledge that I ever had a mother."

Brood's smile was deadly. "If you have anything more to say to me, you would better get it over with. Purge your soul of all the gall that embitters it. I grant you that privilege. Take your innings."

A spasm of pain crossed Frederic's face. "Yes, I am entitled to my innings. I'll go back to what I said downstairs. I thought I loved and honored you last night. I would have forgiven everything if you had granted me a friendly—friendly, that's all—just a friendly word. You denied—"

"I suppose you want me to believe that it was love for that brought you slinking to the theater," said the other ironically.

"I don't expect you to believe anything. I was lonely. I wanted to be with you and Yvonne. Can't you understand how lonely I've been all my life? Can't you understand how hungry I am for the affection that every other boy I've known has had from his parents? I've never asked you about my mother. I used to wonder a good deal. Every other boy had a mother. I never had one. I couldn't understand. I no longer wonder. I know now that she must have hated you with all the strength of her soul. God, how she must have hated to feel the touch of your hands upon her body! Something tells me she left you, and if she did, I hope she afterwards found someone who—but no, I won't say it. Even now I haven't the heart to hurt you by saying that." He stopped, choking up with the rush of bitter words. "Well, why don't you say something?"

"Not giving you your innings. Go on?" said Brood softly. "She must have loved you once—or she wouldn't have married you. She of cardboard here over my heart. I'd laugh in your face and be happy to shout from the housetops that I am no son of yours. But there's no such luck as that! I've only to look at my mother's innocent, soulful face to—"

"Stop!" shouted Brood in an awful voice. His clenched hands were raised above his head. "The time has come for me to tell you the truth about this innocent mother of yours. Luck is with you. I am not your father. You are—"

"Wait! If you are going to tell me that my mother was not a good woman, I want to go on record in advance of anything you may say, as being glad that I am her son no matter who my father was. I am glad that she loved me because I was her child, and if you are not my father then I still have the joy of knowing that she loved some one man well enough to—"

He broke off the bitter sentence and with nervous fingers drew a small leather case from his waistcoat pocket. "Before you go any farther, take one look at her face. It will make you ashamed of yourself. Can you stand there and lie about her after looking into—"

He was holding the window curtains apart, and a stream of light fell upon the lovely face, so small that Brood was obliged to come quite close to be able to see it. His eyes were distended.

"It is not Matilde—it is like her but—Yes, yes, it is Matilde! I must be losing my mind to have thought—"

He wiped his brow. "But, good God, it was startling—positively uncanny." He spoke as to himself, apparently forgetting that he had a listener.

"Well, can you lie about her now?" demanded Frederic.

Brood was still staring as if fascinated at the tiny photograph. "But I have never seen that picture before. She never had one so small as that. It—"

"It was made in Vienna," interrupted Frederic, not without a strange thrill of satisfaction in his soul, "and before you were married, I'd say. On the back of it is written: 'To my own sweetheart—In Hungarian, Yvonne says.' There! Look at her. She was like that when you married her. God, how adorable she must have been. To my own sweetheart! Ho ho!"

A hoarse cry of rage and pain burst from Brood's lips. The world went red before his eyes.

FOOLISH QUESTION. Looking for your bill, mist? No, I'm a bloodhound getting on the trail of a murderer!

Dinner Stories

"Oh, Mr. Flipperley," she exclaimed, soulfully, "have you ever felt a dim, uneasy sense of oppression as if the mere weight of life were a burden too heavy to be borne by the chained spirit?"

"I insist on seeing that picture," said Brood, with deadly intensity.

"No," said Frederic, folding his arms tightly across his breast. "You didn't deserve her then and you—"

"You don't know what you are saying, boy!"

"Ah, don't! Well, I've got just a little bit of my mother safe here over my heart—a little faded card, that's all—and you shall not rob me of that. Last night I was sorry for you. I had the feeling that somehow you have always been unhappy over something that happened in the past that my mother was responsible for. And yet when I took out this photograph, this tiny bit of old cardboard—see, it is so small that it can be carried in my waistcoat pocket—when I took it out and looked at the pure, lovely face, I—by heaven, I knew she was not to blame."

"Have you finished?" asked Brood, wiping his brow. It was dripping.

"Except to repeat that I am through with you forever. I've had all that I can endure and I'm through. My greatest regret is that I didn't get out long ago. But like a fool—a weak fool, I kept on hoping that you'd change and that there were better days ahead for me. I kept on hoping that you'd be a real father to me. Good Lord, what a libel on the name!" He laughed raucously. "I'm sick of calling you father. You did me an honor downstairs by calling me 'bastard.' You had no right to call me that, but, by heaven, if it were not for this bit dinner time," was the callous response; "but hitherto I have attributed it to pickles."

A lady set her heart on a certain bracelet in a jeweler's window. The price, $150, was $100 more than her husband was likely to pay for her. So she laid a plot with the jeweler. Her husband had to be coaxed into buying it, the jeweler asking $75 and then allowing the husband to beat him down to $50, the wife to pay the balance, $100, out of her own allowance afterwards. Up to a certain point the plot was successful. The husband paid the $50 and went off with the bracelet. But he showed it to some one, saying:

"What do you think of this for a bargain?"

The stranger said: "Good! I'll give you half as much again for it."

"Done!"

So the bracelet changed hands, and he went home highly pleased with himself to tell his wife of the profitable deal. There was nothing for her but to "own up"; the $100 balance had to be paid to the jeweler; and if you happen to mention "bracelets" unless you want to hear something best left unsaid.

---And the Worst is yet to Come

Play a Bigger Part. So many people drift into disappointment and dearness because they are dissatisfied with the materials of life, and would like to play a bigger part than they are entitled to play. It is all a deep mistake, the worst mistake a man can make. It is not the impression a man makes on life that matters; it is the impression which he makes upon himself.—North American Review.

Grateful Mothers Tell Experiences

Mrs. T. Neureuter, Eau Claire, Wis., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup after other remedies had failed. Our milkman cured his children of whooping cough. I recommend it to every one, as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough."

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, Youngstown, O., writes: "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. I tried lots of cough remedies, but she didn't get any better. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to me. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat, and after using one bottle she coughed no more."

This sterling old remedy has been in use for years and is just as efficient for adults as for children. It gives relief for irritated and tickling throat, tight and sore chest, grippe and bronchial coughs.
